Milestones in Apollo Theater History

1913 The historic neo-classical theater, known today as the Apollo Theater, was designed by George Keister.

1914 The Theater opens as Hurtig and Seamon’s (New) Burlesque Theater. African-Americans are not allowed in the audience.

1932 Sidney Cohen, President of the Motion Picture Theater Owners of America, buys the theater.

1934 Cohen sells the 125th Street Apollo Theater to Leo Brecher and Frank Schiffman. The format of shows changes from burlesque to variety reviews. Marketing attention is redirected to the growing African-American community in Harlem. The Theater is renamed 125th Street Apollo Theater.

In its inaugural show on January 26, the Apollo Theater becomes the showplace for African American music, dance, and comedy and one of the first entertainment venues to welcome an interracial audience. The first performance is Jazz à la Carte featuring Ralph Cooper Sr., Aida Ward, Benny Carter and his orchestra, and “16 Gorgeous Hot Steppers.”

Amateur Night at the Apollo is launched. 17-year-old Ella Fitzgerald and 16-year-old Pearl Bailey make their Apollo debuts.

The Tree of Hope, cut down from in front of the Lafayette Theatre, is brought to the Apollo Theater by Ralph Cooper. The Tree of Hope still stands on the Apollo stage where Amateur Night performers rub the object hoping to share the good fortune of so many artists before them.

1935 Bessie Smith, “Empress of the Blues,” plays the Apollo on New Year’s Eve. 19-year-old Billie Holiday makes her Apollo debut.

1936 Lena Horne makes her Apollo debut singing with Noble Sissle’s Orchestra.

1937 Count Basie plays the Apollo for the first time.

1943 Sarah Vaughan wins Amateur Night at the Apollo and is hired by Earl Hines’ band as a vocalist.

Frank Schiffman books the experimental bop band of Earl Hines with Dizzy Gillespie, Charlie Parker and Little Benny Harris.

1939 Jackie “Moms” Mabley performs at the Apollo for the first time.

1945 Nat “King” Cole and his trio sell out the Apollo for two straight weeks.

Dinah Washington makes her first Apollo appearance.

1946 Lionel Hampton’s band is so popular that they have to play seven shows a day for seven days.

1947 Sammy Davis Jr. makes his first appearance on the Apollo stage with the Will Mastin Trio.

Dizzy Gillespie performs 13 one-week engagements between 1947 and 1953, introducing African American audiences to “Cubop.”
1949  Frank “Machito” Grillo and His Afro-Cubans perform 13 one-week engagements at the Apollo from 1949 to 1962.

Radio DJ and Latin music enthusiast, “Symphony Sid” Torin begins producing weekly shows at the Apollo. The first show includes Sid, Machito and His Afro-Cubans, and Harry Belafonte.

The Orioles make their Apollo debut and set the stage for the R&B era.

1950  Clyde McPhatter wins Amateur Night.

1951  Josephine Baker makes her Apollo debut.

Dizzy Gillespie, James Moody, and conga player Chano Pozo perform together at the Apollo.

1953  Tito Puente makes his Apollo debut with his band.

Joe Louis and Leonard Reed perform a comedy routine together at the Apollo.

1954  An all-Latin show for “Mambo Rumba Festival” premieres at the Apollo, featuring the mambo bands of Joe Loco and Tito Puente and Mambo Aces dancers.

1955  The Apollo begins new show formats featuring as many as a dozen vocal acts on one bill. This signals the end of vaudeville-variety formats at the theater.

“Showtime at the Apollo” is first broadcast, taped before a live studio audience. Performers include Sarah Vaughan, “Big” Joe Turner, Herb Jeffries, the Count Basie Orchestra, comedian Nipsey Russell, and the dancer Bill Bailey. Willie Bryant is the host.

Thurman Ruth’s Gospel Caravan debuts at the Apollo. Top acts include Shirley Caesar, the Dixie Hummingbirds, and the Staple Sisters.

1956  Buddy Holly and the Crickets appear at the Apollo.

Redd Foxx performs at the Apollo and his performance is noted as “funny but dirty,” by Jack Schiffman.

In the mid 1950’s, James Brown performs in Amateur Night at age 22. After winning the competition, he embarks on his journey to become the “Godfather of Soul.”

1957  Josephine Baker plays the Apollo in a quarter-million-dollar wardrobe.

Jazz greats Miles Davis, John Coltrane, and Thelonious Monk appear at the Apollo.

Johnny Mathis debuts at the Apollo.

Moms Mabley signed to headline a week of shows. Her top billing continued for 17 years until just before her death in 1975.

1960  “Afro-Jazz Revue” featuring Hazel Scott, Mario Bauza and His Afro Jazz Band, and Babatunde Olantunji premieres at the Apollo.

Early 1960’s, Gladys Knight wins Amateur Night
1962 James Brown records live shows at the Apollo which become the basis for his famous Live at the Apollo album (1963 release). Also, classic albums recorded in 1967 and 1971.

Berry Gordy brings the Motown Revue to the Apollo featuring emerging stars Marvin Gaye, Diana Ross and the Supremes, Smokey Robinson and the Miracles, Little Stevie Wonder, The Temptations, Martha and the Vandellas, and The Contours.

1963 Dionne Warwick makes her first professional appearance at the theater.

1964 Celia Cruz makes her Apollo debut.

1966 Jimi Hendrix wins Amateur Night.

Tina Turner performs at the Apollo.

During the 1960’s, a Specter Records show package includes The Shirelles, Chuck Jackson, Tommy Hunt, Maxine Brown, and The Isley Brothers.

The Jewel Box Revue, “25 Men and 1 Girl,” is one of the most popular shows and features performances by female impersonators.

1968 Stephanie Mills, an 11-year-old sensation, wins Amateur Night for six consecutive weeks, singing the Stevie Wonder classic “For Once in My Life.”

Bill Cosby plays the Apollo.

1971 Aretha Franklin, the “Queen of Soul,” performs at the Apollo for a series of sold-out engagements.

Attica benefit concert features John Lennon and Yoko Ono.

During the early 1970’s, stars of the Philadelphia International record label including the Delfonics, the O’Jay’s, the Stylistics, the Spinners, the Three Degrees, and Harold Melvin and the Blue Notes are presented.

1974 Richard Pryor performs to a sold out crowd and the performance is noted as “Dirty! But funny” by Bobby Schiffman.

1976 Redd Foxx records his Grammy nominated comedy album, You Gotta Wash Your Ass.

1979 George Clinton and Parliament Funkadelic open a ten-night run at the Apollo.

Bob Marley performs seven sold out shows at the Apollo.

Percy Sutton’s Inner City Broadcasting Corporation and investors purchase the Apollo Theater.

1983 The Apollo receives national, state, and city landmark status as Harlem’s oldest active theater.

The Apollo celebrates its 50th Anniversary with the television special, “Motown Salutes the Apollo.”

1987 “Showtime at the Apollo” debuts on national television.

1990 Celia Cruz and Tito Puente share the Apollo stage with Miriam Makeba in celebration of Nelson Mandela.

1991 The Apollo Theater Foundation, Inc., a not-for-profit organization, is established to manage and program the Apollo Theater.
1993  Prince plays the Apollo in an exclusive VH1 Concert.

1994-1995  A tribute to Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. launches the Apollo Theater Foundation’s first performance series.

Other performances follow including Alvin Ailey Dance Theater, Boys Choir of Harlem, and Betty Carter - Jazz Ahead.

1997  Tony Bennett plays the Apollo in a sold-out engagement honoring Billie Holiday.

1999  KORN is the first rock band to perform on the Apollo’s stage. The concert is broadcast worldwide via satellite, webcast, and radio.

2000  The Apollo Theater and Jazz at Lincoln Center partner to present Jazz for Young People concerts at the Apollo to educate Harlem elementary school students about the history and traditions of Jazz.

2001  Dance Theatre of Harlem presents its first Apollo performance season.

Whoopi Goldberg launches her first tour in a decade at the Apollo.

Maxwell, David Byrne, and The Strokes make their Apollo debuts to sold-out audiences.

Richard D. Parsons assumes the chairmanship of the Apollo Theater Foundation, Inc. Board of Directors.

The Apollo begins a major restoration and renovation of its façade and marquee.

2002  George C. Wolfe’s new musical, Harlem Song, opens to enthusiastic reviews and has a six-month run.

The Apollo Theater Academy is launched to introduce high school students in New York and New Jersey to the broad range of career opportunities in the music industry.

Jonelle Procope becomes President and CEO of the Apollo Theater Foundation, Inc.

2005  The first Apollo Black Music Month, a month-long celebration of black music, launches with performances by The Black Eyed Peas, The Neville Brothers, and soul icon Chaka Khan.

2005-2006  The first phase of restoration to the landmark Apollo Theater is completed with the installation of more than 1,500 new house seats, restoration of the 125th-Street façade and new marquee, and a new stage.

2006  The Apollo Theater creates the Apollo Legends Hall of Fame, inducting prominent past Apollo performers including Ella Fitzgerald, Little Richard, and Gladys Knight & the Pips.

Aretha Franklin, West African singer Salif Keita, rap artist T.I., and Little Richard are featured in the 2006 Apollo Black Music Month celebration.

Apollo legend James Brown lays in state on the Apollo stage. Tens of thousands of people gather to pay their respects.

The Apollo Theater Education & Community Outreach initiative is launched featuring the Apollo Theater Academy Summer Internship Program and Career Day.

2007  James Brown is posthumously inducted into the Apollo Legends Hall of Fame.

The Apollo’s long-running syndicated television show, “Showtime at the Apollo,” comes to an end.

Then-Senator and Democratic presidential candidate Barack Obama hosts a campaign fundraiser at the Apollo.
Jay-Z makes the Apollo the last stop on his American Gangster tour.

2008
Smokey Robinson is inducted into the Apollo Legends Hall of Fame; Denzel & Pauletta Washington receive the Ruby Dee & Ossie Davis Humanitarian Award.

Elvis Costello films his Sundance Channel television series SPECTACLE: ELVIS COSTELLO WITH... on the Apollo stage.

Celebrating the release of their first CD in over 30 years, LaBelle returns to the Apollo for a special reunion concert.

Apollo Rising Capital Campaign is launched to raise $96 million in support of the theater’s restoration and renovation, future expansion, and new initiatives.

2009
Thousands of Michael Jackson fans flock to the Apollo Theater to pay tribute to the pop icon, celebrate his life, and mourn his death.

2010
The Apollo Legends Walk of Fame is unveiled below the Theater’s historic marquee. Plaques paying tribute to renowned entertainers are installed for Quincy Jones, Patti LaBelle, Smokey Robinson, James Brown, Gladys Knight and the Pips, Little Richard, and Ella Fitzgerald.

Paul McCartney plays at the Apollo for the first time to a star-studded crowd.

2011
The Apollo launches Apollo Music Café, which showcases creative underground artists in a series of diverse performances across genres, including R&B, hip hop, soul, jazz, pop, funk, and rock.

Stevie Wonder is inducted into the Apollo Legends Hall of Fame.

The Apollo’s touring exhibition “Ain’t Nothing Like the Real Thing: How the Apollo Theater Shaped American Entertainment” opens at the Museum of the City of New York.

The Apollo launches its Africa Now! Festival, an annual event celebrating the contemporary creativity across the continent.

2012
President Barak Obama becomes the first sitting President to visit the Apollo, during a campaign fundraiser.

Bruce Springsteen plays the Apollo for the first time.

The Apollo launches Apollo Uptown Hall series, which features innovative activities linking performing arts presentations, activities, and events that explore social issues of particular relevance to the Harlem community.

The Apollo expands its global reach with the first intercontinental Amateur Night, Amateur Night Goes to London, held at London’s Hackney Empire, and by launching Amateur Night Digital—a smartphone app and website that makes the internationally renowned talent competition available to fans around the world.
2013  Apollo Live debuts on Black Entertainment Television (BET).

The Theater is transformed into a nightclub reminiscent of Harlem music clubs of the 1930’s and 40’s for the premiere of Apollo Club Harlem, a 90-minute, fast-paced revue showcasing the Apollo’s glorious musical legacy.

Apollo Theater partners with Sadler’s Wells, the UK’s leading dance house, to present the U.S. premiere of Breakin’ Convention, an international hip hop dance theater festival based in London.

Metallica plays the Apollo for the first time.

Apollo Theater presents the world premiere of its new production James Brown: Get on the Good Foot—A Celebration in Dance, an evening-long dance presentation developed by seven choreographers from around the world which showcase the stylistic and cultural influences the “Godfather of Soul” continues to have on artists and creativity.

Apollo partners with World Music Institute to present the first annual Africa Now! Festival, celebrating the contemporary music scene across the continent.

2014  Apollo Theater and Jazz à Vienne collaboration launches with first in a series of transatlantic presentations celebrating the Theater’s legacy and influence across musical genres—including gospel, soul, funk, blues, and jazz.

Grammy nominated pianist and composer Jason Moran curates his first Apollo Theater engagement, in a collaboration with the Kennedy Center that explores the deep musical connections between the Harlem and Washington, D.C. jazz scenes.

Irvin Mayfield, Jr. and the New Orleans Orchestra make their Apollo Theater debut.

2015  D’Angelo returns to the Apollo for the first time following his Amateur Night win in 1991 at age 16.

The Apollo launches its first international tour, of James Brown Get on the Good Foot: A Celebration in Dance.

Apollo Theater launches the Apollo Comedy Club, a weekly presentation of emerging comedic talent on its soundstage that brings the Theater back to its roots as a testing ground for great comics—including Richard Pryor, Moms Mabley, and Red Foxx who also become the first non-musical artists inducted into the Theater’s Walk of Fame.

2016  Apollo presents opera on its stage for the first time, in a co-production with Opera Philadelphia. The New York premiere of Charlie Parker’s YARDBIRD marks the first of multi-year partnership between the two institutions, which will collaborate on multiple stagings.